

Safety Meetings Are A Must, But They Don't Have To Be A Lot Of Work

Conducting required OSHA safety meetings just got a whole lot easier with the Safety Meeting app, brought to you by DSG.

OSHA requires businesses and organizations to conduct safety meetings on a regular basis and to record the attendance. At DSG, we know that setting up these meetings can take a lot of work and time. However, a strong safety culture is not only important to the well being of your crew, but also to the health of your business. Because DSG is constantly looking for ways to help our business partners succeed, we'd like to share some information with you about the Safety Meeting app, an easy-to-use online tool that makes conducting regularly scheduled safety meetings simple and helps to reduce accidents, damaging lawsuits and OSHA fines.

Powerful Benefits

With the Safety Meeting app, all of the hassle of preparing for and conducting a safety meeting is taken care of for you. You simply choose your safety topic, follow the outline and record who was present. Plus, with the Safety Meeting app, you can:

- Archive your meeting within the Safety Meeting app cloud for instant retrieval in case of an OSHA audit.
- Track incidents and accidents, as well as record disciplinary actions with digital signatures in order to help you prepare your OSHA 300 logs.
- Utilize more than 850 safety meeting topics, with a variety that everyone can appreciate.
- Save time by accessing your safety meeting materials and records almost anywhere – including your smartphone, tablet or computer.
